Biography

Dominique Fung (born 1987, works in New York) is a Canadian artist with ancestry in Hong Kong and Shanghai, whose practice explores the subliminal liminal territory in which tradition, memory and legacy seep through our collective subconsciousness. Through her interest in casting light on overlooked or forgotten stories and her use of specific historical artifacts she infuses with living qualities and complex non-linear narrative paths, she models a new, broader, alternative space of belonging.

Fung's work is included in the collections of the M+, K11 Art Foundation, Pond Society, Yuz Foundation, Aishti Foundation, Cantor Art Center of Stanford University, East West Bank Collection, Hammer Museum, High Museum of Art, ICA Miami, LACMA, LA MoCA, The Huntington Library among others.
